

Allanah Dunn Funeral Mass Statement – Foxrock Parish

STARTS –

On Thursday 8th April 2021 we all, together as a Parish, celebrate the life of Allanah Dunn. Her Funeral Mass will be held in Foxrock Church at 10am.

We join with our Community as a whole to show our love and support for Allanah, her parents Caitriona and Martin, sister Juliette, brother Michael and the wider Dunn family. We are heartbroken and pray that her family may get some solace from the enormous outpouring of love that is evident throughout our Parish.

We sincerely thank you for your support for the Dunn family and for your understanding of the guidelines under which we, as a Parish of the Dublin Diocese, must operate. Please respect these guidelines on Thursday as our focus must be on the overall health and safety of our Community. The Church is for close family only. We ask that there are no large groups congregating in and around the Church and/or the car park.

We have a special page set up on our Parish website: <http://bit.ly/inCelebrationOfAllanah> where everyone is welcome to put messages of support and memories of Allanah. We will give this to her family at her Month's Mind.

As difficult as it will be for each of us not to be together in this tragedy, we ask that as many as possible join us on Thursday for the Funeral Mass online. You are welcome to join us either through <http://bit.ly/FoxrockWebCam> or through www.churchservices.tv/foxrock.
